

Can Machines Spot Diseases Faster than Expert Humans?
Suchi Saria, Johns Hopkins University

The talk will cover example statistical machine learning techniques for teaching machines how to spot diseases along with one case study to illustrate the idea.