

Autonomous Vehicles: A Start-up Perspective

JianXiong Xiao, AutoX, Inc.

Self-driving vehicles will save millions of lives, bring convenience to daily life, and transform mobility, logistics, and transportation. This technology will fundamentally transform the structure of labor and the structure of transportation.

Over the last decade I've had the chance of working on the self-driving technology with different major partners I have experienced rapid advancement in the state-of-the-art and watched the technology and industry evolve. In this talk I will share perspectives on the technology, the landscape and what the future holds.
