

State of Infrastructure Security

Jason Hill, Department of Homeland Security

CISA conducts cybersecurity assessments on the Nation's critical infrastructure sectors. This talk will share what type of trends are discovered and how discovery can help aid those sectors and specific customers in their pursuit for better cybersecurity. Real world examples will show common trends within and across CI sectors that continue to plague our Nation's critical infrastructure assets.